

HANSE AEROSPACE e. V. - Holzmuehlenstr. 84 - 22041 Hamburg

New board of management at Hanse-Aerospace

At its annual general meeting on 16 March 2007 HANSE-AEROSPACE e. V. elected a new board of management. The new first chairman is Uwe Groening, managing director of Innovint Aircraft Interior GmbH and hitherto managing chairman. The second chairman and chairman of the advisory committee under the provisions of the association's articles is Ralph-Guenther Matzen, managing director of MST Matzen Schlauch-Technik Limited & Co KG.

Joern Zimpel, Account Manager Sales, Lufthansa Cargo AG Hamburg, Eric Makin, managing director of Docuserve, and Henner Kultz, managing director Germany and Austria of Akzo Nobel Aerospace Coatings, were elected as further members of the board. With this new team Hanse Aerospace intends to maintain its successful work of recent years and continue to intensively promote the interests of small and medium sized aviation and space industry companies.

HANSE-AEROSPACE e. V. is Germany's largest association of small and medium sized aviation and space companies. Our member companies represent a wide spectrum from development companies, makers and maintenance companies to aviation and space oriented service companies. Training schools, universities and universities of applied science round the membership off. About ten percent of all the specialists employed in the German aviation and space industries are employed by HANSE-AEROSPACE member companies. Member companies have a total annual turnover of 11 billion Euros, 1.5 billion of it in space and aviation.
